Cindy Potter
Adopt-A-Street Volunteer

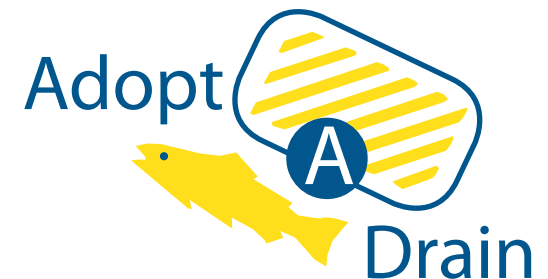

“As a parent, adopting a drain is a hands-on way for children to learn how we each can do a little bit to improve the water quality for fish. Monitoring the drains is also a good way for children to see the effects of the change of seasons.”

Help Keep Our Streets and Waterways Clean Become a volunteer with the Adopt-A-Street and Adopt-A-Drain programs.

Volunteers help remove litter and debris from streets and blocked storm drains around the city. This helps keep Seattle clean and green! By volunteering, you will join over 500 individuals, businesses, churches, clubs, organizations and schools in fostering civic responsibility and environmental stewardship.

Adopt-A-Street

Whether you choose to commit to being a year-round volunteer or participate in a one-time cleanup, by joining the Adopt-A-Street program you will:

- 1 Join a community of more than 300 active volunteer groups.
- 2 Add to the nearly 200 miles of city streets being cleaned and maintained by citizens like you.
- 3 Promote civic responsibility, community pride

Adopt-A-Drain

Currently, more than 200 volunteers are maintaining storm drains, a critical part of our utility infrastructure. Commit to removing leaves and other debris from a minimum of four storm drains. By joining the Adopt-A-Drain program you will:

- 1 Help prevent flooding in your neighborhood by keeping drains free of debris.
- 2 Prevent pollutants from entering streams, creeks and Puget Sound.
- 3 Help drainage crews maintain the city's thousands of storm drains, especially during critical fall months of increased rain and falling leaves.
